

Janet Barraclough

Janet Barraclough, my main instrument is Euphonium, I am also a very keen trombone player.

I studied music at the University of Huddersfield, and during this time I thoroughly enjoyed immersing myself in the world of brass bands.

I have been very fortunate through playing in brass bands to perform in some amazing concert halls such as the Royal Albert Hall and Birmingham Symphony Hall and play in the pit band for Brassed Off at Theatre Clwyd.

My true passion is conducting my junior brass band, seeing the future musicians develop both musically and socially.
