

Mark Hooper

My name is Mark Hooper and I am a Drum Kit and Percussion Tutor for Edsential. I have been hitting drums since I was 7 years, initially self-taught but then more formally as I studied Music Performance at both BA and MA level. I now have a full-time teaching schedule as well as performing and recording all over the UK. My best musical experience was getting the chance to record an album at the legendary Rockfield Studios where some of the greatest recordings have been made, including all of the Queen albums. Outside of music you will most likely catch me either cooking or scrambling up the side of a mountain.
